

Who we are:

We combine non-contact boxing with intensive personal support to challenge and inspire young people to realise their unique potential. Over time we have evolved from a small boxing project into a regional charity using a pioneering approach that harnesses the power of sport.

The need we are addressing:

We support young people experiencing emotional and behavioural issues which arise because of social and economic exclusion. Many of the young people we support live in poverty, poor housing, and workless households.

Empire Fighting Chance Careers Programme

Our careers and education programmes support 14 – 25 year-olds on their journey into training, learning and work as well as a healthier, brighter future. Many of the young people we work with come to us with limited aspirations and a sense of hopelessness around securing any future employment.

Can you help?

Empire Fighting Chance is looking to partner with a range of companies to support our Careers Programme and engage young people with work experience. Can you help with one or all of the following?

Stage 1 – A workplace visit for a group of young people – This is to raise awareness and aspiration about the world of work and the kind of jobs available in your organisation.

Stage 2 – One day work experience – a young person given the opportunity to complete a shift at the workplace. This can be one day working (9-5) or a few hours to complete a specific role in the organisation

Stage 3 – Extended work experience with an interview and/or a potential job offer or apprenticeship.
